The film also covers the history of Shivaji's life. Plot The story of the film is based on the story of Shivaji and his attempt to scale the Nanda Devi. In the beginning, the protagonist is shown as a very irresponsible, carefree and adventurous youth, who indulges in all sorts of lovable escapades. He is introduced to us during his college days, where he is shown to be part of a travel club. The club organises a trekking expedition to the Godavari river. The members of the club decide to take up the responsibility to help Shivaji, who is said to be having a rough time due to his previous misadventures. The story revolves around Shivaji's attempts to scale the Nanda Devi and trying to unravel the mystery surrounding it. The protagonist is shown to be trying his best to make sure that nobody dies during the expedition, which is also shown in the form of a quotation of a famous American climber: "You're only as old as the last man who has died. You're only as young as the first man who has lived."
